DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a Final Office Action in response to the communication filed by Applicant on June 15, 2006. Claims 1-48 are pending in the application.

Response to Amendment

2. Applicant's arguments regarding:

- (1) "selectively receiving a payment... in advance of the invoice date"
- (2) "calculating a discount amount based upon the invoice amount"
- (3) "calculating another discount amount based upon another percentage of the invoice amount" of claims 1-42 have been considered but found not persuasive.

3. Issue no. (1): Applicant's argue: Kitchen or Pay and Save alone or in combination do not teach selectively receiving a payment input that authorizes a payment according to the calculated discount amount in advance of the invoice date as recited in the claims. Response: The Examiner is entitled to give the claim limitations their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the Specification (see below):

4. The combination of Kitchen and Pay and Save disclose a system receiving a payment according to a calculated discount and this payment is received in advance of the invoice date (Kitchen: col. 8, line 63 – col. 9, line 8; col. 12, lines 16-48. Pay and Save: lines 4-7). Conclusion: Under their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the Specification, the claims are taught and no inventive concept is found. Applicant's are respectfully requested to point out to the Examiner which claim limitations in the claims are considered to be the inventive concept because the inventive concept can not be determined from the claim limitations as written.

5. Issue no. (2): Applicant's argue: Kitchen or Pay and Save alone or in combination do not teach calculating a discount amount based upon the invoice amount as recited in the claims. Response: The Examiner is entitled to give the claim limitations their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the Specification (see below):

claims are considered to be the inventive concept because the inventive concept can not be determined from the claim limitations as written.

7. Issue no. (3): Applicant's argue: Kitchen or Pay and Save alone or in combination do not teach calculating another discount amount based upon another percentage of the invoice amount as recited in the claims. Response: The Examiner is entitled to give the claim limitations their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the Specification (see below):

8. Pay and Save: lines 4-7). Conclusion: Under their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the Specification, the claims are taught and no inventive concept is found. Applicant's claim is a repeat of the process evaluated in Issue no. (1) and Issue no. (2) above and is evaluated using the same reference. Applicant's are respectfully requested to point out to the Examiner which claim limitations in the claims are considered to be the inventive concept because the inventive concept can not be determined from the claim limitations as written.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
